EXAMINER'S ACTION

Art Unit: 1803

Claim 41 is the sole pending claim. Claims 1 - 40 and 42 - 57 have been canceled.

The following is a quotation of the first paragraph of 35 U.S.C. § 112:

The specification shall contain a written description of the invention, and of the manner and process of making and using it, in such full, clear, concise, and exact terms as to enable any person skilled in the art to which it pertains, or with which it is most nearly connected, to make and use the same and shall set forth the best mode contemplated by the inventor of carrying out his invention.

Claim 41 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. § 112, first paragraph, as the disclosure is enabling only for claims limited to subject matter for which there is support. See M.P.E.P. §§ 706.03(n) and 706.03(z).

The claim encompasses all "pyrimidine nucleotide precursors" which are not enabled by the specification including such compounds as acylated aspartic acid, carbamoyl phosphate, acylated ATP, etc. as set forth on pages 735 - 736 of Lehninger. The description of said "pyrimidine nucleotide precursors" in the specification included uridine, cytidine, and orotic acid. The claims should be limited to acylated uridine, acylated cytidine, and acylated orotic acid. This is a scope rejection.

Claim 41 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. § 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention.

Claim 41 is rendered vague and indefinite by the phrase "primidine nucleotide precursor". The specification only specifically cites three examples of said precursors: uridine, cytidine, and orotic acid. However, this phrase could conceivably include N-acylated aspartic acid and acetic acid (i.e., an acylated water molecule), and acylated ATP, are of which involved in the production of pyrimidine nucleotides, none of which are cited in the disclosure as sufficient to increase the pool of uridine or cytidine nucleotides.

The claim is not allowed.
